Brig. Gen. Silverthorn Wins Legion of Merit For Guam Operation

Brig. Gen. Merwin H. Silverthorn, Marine Corps, chief of staff to the commanding general of the 3d Amphibious Corps, recently was presented with the Legion of Merit for his help in planning the capture of Guam, the Marine Corps announced today.

Gen. Silverthorn, 48, "skillfully and effectively co-ordinated all general and staff details," the citation stated. He recently won the Silver Star with Cluster, and also holds the Navy Cross, the Army Distinguished Service Cross and Purple Heart.

His wife, Mrs. Marie A. Silverthorn, and youngest son, Robert, live at 4711 Dover road. Two other sons, Capt. Merwin Silverthorn and Second Lt. Russell Silverthorn, are in the Marine Corps. Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster, commander of the 12th Air Force, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Rome. He was cited previously as commanding general of the 42d Bombardment Wing for directing the operations of medium bombers during the march on Rome. He also received the Legion of Merit for establishing the air base at Sardinia for operations against the Germans. He and his wife, Mrs. Flora Webster, live at 4000 Cathedral avenue N.W. They have two sons, Roland, a student at Western High School, and Robert M., a first-classman at West Point.

Col. Nels H. Nelson, 42, Marine Corps, signal officer of the 3d Amphibious Corps, was awarded the Legion of Merit for salvaging and repairing "sufficient material to fulfill the initial communication requirements" after much equipment was lost during the early phases of fighting on Guam.

"He made continuous trips to the fighting front to inspect, supervise and co-ordinate signal activities," the accompanying citation said. Col. Nelson lives with his wife and daughter, Mary Ann, at 2224 Thirtieth place N.W.

Capt. Ernest E. Hermann, 48, U. S. N., of 2936 Twenty-eighth street N.W., received the Legion of Merit for "superb leadership" as commanding officer of a cruiser assigned to a task unit covering the withdrawal of warships from Japanese waters, the Navy Department announced today.

Handicapped by darkness and continuous enemy air attack, the citation said, Capt. Hermann fought his ship gallantly and contributed greatly to the successful withdrawal of valuable combatant vessels to safety.

Capt. Clinton A. Mission, 47, U. S. N., of 3401 Fulton street N.W., won the Legion of Merit for "keen resourcefulness and expert professional ability" while commanding a transport division during the amphibious assault on an enemy-held island in the Pacific last June.

According to the citation, he "labored tirelessly throughout the planning phase of the assault operations and by his fine grasp of the tactical situation effected an expeditious landing of the combat team embarked in ships of his division."

Col. Walter A. Wachtler, Marine Corps, assistant chief of staff of the 3d Amphibious Corps, was awarded a Gold Star in lieu of a second Legion of Merit for his supervision of training prior to the Guam operation, which "welded the entire landing force into an efficient military unit."

He demonstrated superior knowledge of tactics and understood fully the many requirements of modern warfare," the citation stated. His wife, Mrs. Lella C. Wachtler, lives at 3901 Connecticut avenue N.W.

Lt. Col. Justice M. Chambers, Marine Corps, recently was presented with the Legion of Merit for his work as commander of a 4th Marine Division infantry battalion on Saipan and Tinian.

Col. Chambers, whose wife, Johanna, and three children live at 630 Quebec place N.W., also wears the Silver Star and Purple Heart with Gold Star for wounds sustained on Tulagi and Saipan.

Elections Deciding More Labor Rows

By the Associated Press.

The National Labor Relations Board says labor was turning more and more to the agency's "democratic election process" to adjust union representation disputes. The agency added that "illegal practices" of employers continue to diminish.

The statement was made in the board's ninth annual report. It prompted Chairman H. A. Miller to observe that the NLRB "with continuing and increasing frequency is being called upon to act the judge rather than the prosecutor."

"That is," he added, "the overwhelming number of cases filed with us ask the resolution of questions concerning union representation; a declining number of cases call upon us to police unfair labor practices by employers."

Mr. Miller said the board wanted to continue to use the election device with its secret ballot in preference to other methods in settling representation disputes. But he said these must be free of "coercive tactics or undue influence directed at the employees, whether attributable to the employer, a contesting union, or any other source."

He said the board had noted in recent months a "regrettable tendency" to make elections the occasion for exertion of pressure on employees by means of "propaganda campaigns, subtle threats and other devices."

Yardstick of Wallace's Fitness: ACCOMPLISHMENT

Already we see signs of a terrific battle between the Liberals and the Conservatives. Such a battle is personified by the actions of the Conservatives in Congress who are doing everything within their power to prevent the confirmation of the nomination of Henry A. Wallace for the position of Secretary of Commerce.

What is there about Wallace to cause some Senators to fight him with such venom? Mr. Wallace's sin is that he has never knuckled under to special interests. He has been more than fair to them when their interest coincided with the public good, but merciless in his fight against them when they were pushing some measure against the general welfare.

Take the Ever Normal Granary which Mr. Wallace fathered. Some of the grain interests did not like this. But it was an essential step to take on behalf of the farmer and the consumer. The American people are thankful for the extra 100,000,000 bushels of wheat and 450,000,000 bushels of corn which * * * made the difference between crippling hunger and efficient working and fighting for many millions in England and Russia.

In April of 1939 Mr. Wallace was responsible for initiating he trade with England of 600,000 bales of cotton for 90,500 long tons of rubber * * * enough to make 18 million average automobile tires. Both the automobile user and the war effort were served by this far-visioned action by Henry Wallace.

Baruch Repeatedly Lauded Wallace

The Wallace farm program in the thirties almost doubled the farm gross income and almost trebled the farmers net income. There was nothing incompetent about the way Wallace got the cooperation of the farmers, the Congress and the administrators in the executive branch of the government to do a difficult job. Mr. Bernard Baruch has repeatedly said that Mr. Wallace as Secretary of Agriculture did a superb job of administration.

Under the Triple A, which became law in May of 1933. Mr. Wallace had to pick the men who would build an organization which would contact county by county and state by state the majority of the 6 million farmers of the United States. The chief responsibility was placed on the county committees elected by the Farmers themselves. This annoyed a few politicians, but it was sound administration to decentralize what otherwise would have been an impossible task.

Mr. Wallace, as Secretary of Agriculture, was responsible for the Food Stamp Plan. * * * It was almost as difficult an administrative job to come into effective touch with several hundred thousand distributive outlets as it had been to work out the Triple A in cooperation with several million farmers. But the job was done and it was done efficiently and effectively. Said Mr. J. Frank Grimes, President of the Independent Grocers' Alliance:—"My experience with him, when chairman of the important food and grocery conference Committee, has earned my deep respect for his ability and integrity."

He Saved Millions

Take the story of how Mr. Wallace saved $874,000,000 to the U. S. Treasury, which otherwise would have gone unjustly to enrich certain processors who had done nothing whatever to earn the money. * * * In justice to the processing trades, it should be said that the majority of them recognized the justice of the action taken by the Government under Mr. Wallace's leadership. The courts sustained the Government in 92 per cent of the cases contested. The overwhelming majority of the cases were settled out of court because the justice of the Government's position was so apparent.

Wallace it was who used Presidential backing to force Mr. Jones to give the farmers 4 percent instead of 5 percent money. He it was who insisted on safe storage facilities at reasonable rates. He it was who insisted that the Commodity Credit Corporation be transferred to the Department of Agriculture so that the products could be stored more economically.

The only Vice President who ever did any work in the Executive branch of the government was Mr. Wallace. * * * He was serving as Chairman of both the Board of Economic Warfare and SPAB—later the War Production Board—when Pearl Harbor was struck, and he broke bottle necks which nobody else could have broken except the President.

No wonder the forward-looking people of the United States, and the common people of the world, believe in Mr. Wallace.
